RE: Marcus A. Rivera

DOB: 07/22/1990

To Whom It May Concern:

I have treated Mr. Rivera since 2023 and have reviewed his service treatment records, including documented blast exposure during his deployment to Afghanistan in 2011.

It is my professional medical opinion that his bilateral tinnitus is AT LEAST AS LIKELY AS NOT caused by acoustic trauma sustained during his active military service. The onset of his symptoms immediately following documented blast exposure, and the absence of any pre-service history of hearing complaints, support this conclusion.

It is further my opinion that his chronic lumbar strain is at least as likely as not aggravated beyond its natural progression by the same in-service event.

Sincerely,
